A message from Miss Pountney from Maple Class

This term in Maple class we have been focussing our writing around the book Miss Leoparda by Natalia Shaloshvili. The key theme in the story is protecting the environment and how the choices we make have an impact. The children have been working hard and have been using different skills to create different pieces of writing, such as writing a letter as Miss Leoparda to the townspeople to encourage them to make better choices for the environment. As a class we have been looking at how we can reimagine the text and we created a new version of the story which we put actions to, to help us to remember. As you can see, we thoroughly enjoyed retelling our new story with our partners! Over the next week the children will be writing their own versions of the story and will be changing the characters and events to make it their own.
